McKeithen
Airs View
Of Negroes

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Gov. John J. McKeithen said Friday he would encourage more Negro enlistments in the Louisiana National Guard and Air National Guard.

"They are Americans first," the governor told a news conference here, "and the Negro soldiers in Vietnam have set a fine record."

McKeithen's statement came when he was asked for comment on a recommendation earlier by the President's special commission on riots that more Negroes be recruited into the National Guard.

The governor said he planned to consult with State Adjutant Gen. Ebron Wise about a campaign to recruit more Negroes in the Guard units.

As of Dec. 31, 1966, the Louisiana National Guard had 28 Negroes among its 7,922 members and four Negroes among 920 in the Air National Guard.

McKeithen said he had no intention of meeting with a group of Negroes who plan a rally at the capitol in Baton Rouge Aug. 20 to mark the end of a 10-day march from Bogalusa. The march began Thursday.

The march, McKeithen said, "is absolutely silly and ridiculous. Those people don't have to march to Baton Rouge if they have grievances and they know it."

He said he would go to Bogalusa "if the grievances are genuine," noting that he had made trips to the racially troubled southeast Louisiana papermill town in the past.

He also said he had had A. Z. Young and Robert Hicks, the Bogalusa Negro leaders heading the march, flown to Baton Rouge in the past to discuss Negro grievances.

"These two men are leading the march just to bring themselves publicity with the hope they can create an incident, with the hope they can cause chaos and anarchy," McKeithen said.

"Every Negro, every person in the state knows that all he has to do is call up the governor's office for an appointment and I'll be glad to see them."

McKeithen said black power advocate H. Rap Brown will be protected if he comes to Louisiana "but if he violates the law he will be treated like everyone else who violates the law. White or Negro, it makes no difference."

Bogalusa march leaders say that Brown will speak at the Aug. 20 rally on the Capitol steps.

Chance Open
To Peace Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—Official U.S. sources saw Friday an outside chance that North Vietnam might be willing to meet with representatives of the new South Vietnamese government to be elected next month.

The U.S. sources who cannot be quoted by name, stressed the term "outside chance" and noted that the Hanoi regime steadfastly has refused contacts with the Saigon leadership.

North Vietnam contends the government headed by Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky does not represent the South Vietnamese people.

The announced aim of the Sept. 3 elections, in which Thieu and Ky form the leading state, is to elect a president and vice president and set up a representative government.

Thieu says that if elected, he will propose a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam if he thinks this will bring Hanoi into peace discussions.

Concerning the charges and countercharges swirling about the South Vietnamese political campaign, the official U.S. sources asked that judgment be withheld on whether the election will be fair.

They said provincial and village elections have been held in South Vietnam which were later determined to be fair despite criticism during campaign time.

On other matters the American official sources stated:—The United States regrets President Charles de Gaulle's go-it-alone role for France because other nations need France's talents in a joint search for solutions of many problems.

—No new policies are expected to grow out of next week's Washington visit by West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger.

—The split at Havana between Moscow-line tacticians and Fidel Castro's advocacy of armed force in spreading revolution is mainly a family quarrel among the Communists. Castro and the Soviets are not likely to abandon each other because of it.

SAIGON (AP)—The military government will send peace feelers to seven angry presidential candidates who are boycotting the government-sponsored campaign trips to the provinces. Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu, himself a candidate in the 11-man race, announced Friday a letter is being drafted to assure the seven of the government's good intentions regarding the trips.

"We regret the incident" which irritated them, he said.

Red China
Undergoing
More Fights

TOKYO (AP)—Large-scale armed clashes between followers and opponents of Chairman Mao Tse-tung were reported in at least nine major cities of Red China Friday, including Lanchow, said to be the site of China's nuclear arsenal.

Maoists were holding massive demonstrations in Peking in an attempt to halt fighting in the Chinese capital and its suburbs, the Japanese newspaper Asahi reported. It said the Maoists hoped to spread a truce throughout the country.

MAOISTS SURRENDERED

The dispatch said supporters of President Liu Shao-chi, Mao's principal enemy, have surrounded Maoist groups and were on the attack in provincial capitals in western, northern and southern China.

Asahi's report from Peking quoted wall posters, a traditional method of disseminating news in China and an important source of information about Mao's year-long campaign to purge his political foes.

The posters said battles were going on in Lanchow, capital of Kansu Province 700 miles west of Peking; Yinchuan, capital of Ningxia Province, which borders Kansu; Kweilin, capital of Kwangsi Province, and Kunming, capital of Yunnan Province.

Kwangsi and Yunnan provinces, in southern China, border on North Vietnam.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported disturbances in Kirin, Changchun and Harbin, all in Manchuria in northeastern China. Kirin is a provincial capital. Changchun is an industrial city and Harbin is a leading food-processing center.

Tass said the Chinese army was taking part in battles in Mukden, an industrial city and capital of Manchuria.

The People's Daily, official publication of China's Communist party, urged the army to repudiate Liu's side. It said Defense Minister Lin Biao, Mao's No. 1 ally, recently issued a new order showing "the utmost solicitude for and faith in" the army and calling on it to step up its activities in support of Mao.

Tass said 10,000 persons were taking part in bloody fighting in Canton, south China's largest city.

Travelers from China who reached Hong Kong reported gun battles in Canton and said more than 500 persons have been killed or seriously wounded.

Mao's official New China News Agency said residents of Peking and Shanghai were throwing their full weight behind the campaign to overthrow Liu. It said Maoists in Shanghai have put up miles of posters along main streets and were holding rallies that have "even attracted old ladies and primary school children."

He said this should be done "in order to combat the activities of mercenaries inside the country and to avoid a possible extension of the conflict which might endanger peace in central Africa and particularly in Angola."

Bomboko asked Seydoux that a number of former mercenaries for longtime secessionist Katanga Province in the Congo were now at Luanda, Angola, with two planes. He said that at Luanda, which was the Katanga separatist capital under the name of Elisabethville, radio communications had been intercepted between two bases in Angola and anti-government troops in the Congo commanded by Belgian-born Maj. Jean Schramm.

Schramm's force, which he counts at 160 European mercenaries and 800 former Katanga gendarmes, now holds Bukavu in the northeastern Congo and seems intent on escaping into neighboring Rwanda. Government troops have been jockeying to cut it off.

Soviet Union Advises U.S.
Of Wanting To Help Curb
Nuclear Weapons Spread

AMBASSADOR WILLIAM Foster stands beside President Johnson Friday after they conferred at the White House. Foster said he plans to return to Geneva in expectation of a prompt agreement with Russia on a draft of a nuclear nonproliferation treaty and its presentation to an 18-nation disarmament conference. (AP Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union has told the United States it wants to join in presenting a treaty aimed at curbing the spread of nuclear weapons.

U.S. disarmament chief William C. Foster gave out this word at the White House Friday—then arranged to return at once to the 17-nation Geneva Disarmament Conference to wrap up final details with his Soviet counterpart, Alexei Roschin.

"We are in the processes of a final solution of the problem," Foster told newsmen after calling on President Johnson.

The sudden word from the Kremlin that it is ready to join in proposing a draft pact marks a major step forward in long negotiations—but there still is a long way to go before a treaty comes into force.

Assuming the two nuclear superpowers speedily agree on final treaty language, it remains to be seen whether the atomic have-not nations will join. There has been mounting pressure in some against permanently renouncing future national rights to an atomic arsenal.

Under the proposed treaty, the nuclear powers would agree not to give atomic explosives to others. The have-not powers would also pledge not to receive them.

The United States and the Soviet Union have parallel policies against giving any atomic weapons to third countries—but it has taken them more than two years of on-and-off negotiations to agree on the wording of a nonproliferation treaty for consideration at the Geneva parley.

As matters now stand, Foster said, the Big Two still have not settled on a safeguards provision to insure against treaty violations.

Thus the plan is to present a joint draft at Geneva with the safeguards proviso left blank.

The idea is to let the other Geneva powers examine the proposed treaty and put it in final shape. Foster voiced hope this could be done in time for the U.N. General Assembly session this fall.

Whether the treaty is presented at the United Nations or elsewhere for signature by countries around the world, Foster acknowledged that France and Red China—building their own nuclear weapons—do not intend to join. However, he also expects them not to be handing out their atomic warheads to others.

The safeguards provision is in dispute primarily between the Soviets, who favor a uniform global inspection system for the have-not countries, and the West Europeans who prefer the inspection procedure already set up under their own peaceful atomic energy program.

If and when a nonproliferation treaty wins a round-the-world ratification, it will stand as a companion to the first landmark in international control of nuclear warheads—the 1963 atomic test ban treaty. That pact, signed by more than 100 nations, though not by France or Red China, forbids all but underground nuclear explosions.

At the Glassboro, N.J., summit the meetings last June between Johnson and Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, the outstanding specific point of agreement between the two was their stress on the importance of speedy conclusion of a nonproliferation treaty.

The two leaders were well aware of rising pressures on nations like India, Japan and Brazil to get into the nuclear race.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk then got from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko what Rusk thought was assurance that the Russians would agree within a few days to join in presenting a draft nonproliferation treaty at Geneva. But nothing happened for weeks.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Moving carefully after a near fumble at the start, the state began laying out its case Friday night in the perjury trial of Dean Andrews—accused of lying to the grand jury in the Kennedy assassination probe.

Andrews, a 44-year-old lawyer who figured in the Warren Report, murmured frequent suggestions to his new defense lawyers as state witnesses testified.

In the opening statement, Asst. Atty. Richard Burnes outlined instances in which the state alleges Andrews lied.

Burnes also won admission of a volume of the Warren Report into the court record, over defense objections. The volume included the record of an interrogation of Andrews by a Warren Commission lawyer in 1964.

The five-man jury, plus one alternate, was chosen in three hours of examinations hustled along by Criminal Dist. Court Judge Frank J. Shea. The judge said the jury would be locked up at night for the duration of the trial.

Selection of the jury came after Judge Shea—in rapid fire order—overruled Andrews' motions to oust Garrison as prosecutor at the trial, to quash the perjury indictment, suppress evidence and file further evidence designed to show Garrison should not be allowed to try the case.

Almost immediately after the jury was seated, Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alecock rose, handed the judge a blue bound folder and said, "I now deliver to you copies of incriminatory (incriminating) statements made by the defendant."

Field Of Candidates Spare On Deadline

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—State officials today opened their fingers and knocked on wood Friday as they waited out the last few hours when candidates can qualify against them.

As the 5 p.m. Saturday deadline for qualifying approached, a meager field of candidates had put up the $500 fee for statewide office in this unusual political year in Louisiana.

As of late Friday afternoon, only one candidate had qualified in the same office category as the late 1964 Democratic gubernatorial primary.

Gov. John McKeithen, first-term incumbent, faces a challenge from John B. Rouse, a former state district judge and the state's newest congressman, who entered a major threat.

Four years ago, McKeithen lost his bid for reelection in the state's largest election, but he defeated the late President's son-in-law in a runoff before a second round of the election.

The Republican Party, which is years in arrears in Louisiana, is attempting to defeat the Democratic primary and is working to get its candidates on the ballot.

Senate Votes To Expand Election Call Is Scheduled For Monday

WASHINGTON, AP — The Senate voted Friday to expand the Export-Import Bank's lending authority after introducing it to finance purchases in the United States of marine tools for an automobile plant in Russia.

It adopted by a voice vote an amendment by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-Id., barring the Export-Import Bank from aiding the Fiat automobile company of Italy in the purchase of $50 million of U.S. equipment for a plant it is building in the Soviet Union.

President Johnson had endorsed the Fiat auto deal.

Mundt haled the action, saying it shows "we have had enough of self-defeating moves" and thus sounds a death knell for Johnson's efforts to increase East-West trade.

He added he hoped the Senate would shorten the war in Vietnam.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York promptly challenged the Republican colleague, saying the bill cannot possibly effect Russia's supplies of arms to North Vietnam.

Sen. Javits said he hoped the Senate would shorten the war in Vietnam.

Senate Sets Probe Fund For Riots

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate ordered Friday a $500,000 investigation of racial rioting after refusing to adopt a requirement that the inquiry cover the social and economic ingredients of city violence.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark, the man who will preside over the inquiry, said those items will be covered anyhow.

After a three-hour debate, the Senate voted 56 to 25 against an amendment which would have required specifically for the inclusion of social and economic factors in the riot inquiry.

Then it passed the inquiry resolution.

"Take our word for it," said McClellan, chairman of the permanent investigations subcommittee, "there is nothing related to rioting unless disorders that this committee will not hear."

McClellan will not indicate when it will take 5 to 10 new investigators to do the task before the panel. And he also has indicated that the inquiry will include a thorough investigation of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The Senate debate over words was really an argument about emphasis. It touched discussions during the current judicial committee investigation of rioting.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., is pressing the judicial committee to take a broader look at social and economic as well as law enforcement aspects of racial outbreaks.

Kennedy told the Senate it is imperative for the body to speak out as a whole on the issue of underlying factors.

"We're not only speaking to each other here on the floor," said Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ind., sponsor of the amendment which would have called for a study of economic and social causes of violence, and of community attitudes.

"We're speaking to the community. We're speaking to the white people. We're speaking to the Negro people."

"We're not putting in one of the basic causes which brought the rioting—what we helped cause."

He said the office would be open until noon on Saturday, August 19, and emphasized that deadline on the final day would be 5 p.m.

The Democratic primaries for party elections will conclude with the upcoming state gubernatorial Democratic primaries which will be held on Nov. 4 and Dec. 10. The general election will be on Feb. 7, 1968.

The program, endorsed by Chairman H. H. (Tige) Mullins and his Citizen's Advisory Committee, goes to a vote on Sept. 23.

Joining Hatten for the presentation was advisory committee member F. C. McConnell. Mullins was out of town.

"We want everybody to know everything about this program," Hatten said. "I hope to go before all local civic clubs before the election."

W. D. Brown Qualifies In Senate Race

With election year politics at its lowest ebb in recent memory, only the senatorial race locally appears to be drawing a field.

The fifth candidate from Ouachita Parish, William D. Brown, qualified before Monroe Mayor W. L. Howard Friday. All five candidates and any others that might qualify before deadline at 5 p.m. today, must run in the four parish district of Ouachita, Morehouse, East Carroll and West Carroll.

Running so far are Brown, incumbent Sen. Jamar Adeock, W. E. Whetstone, John Ensminger and Howard Griffith. All but Griffith are from Monroe.

The Ouachita Parish Democratic Executive Committee will meet at 10 a.m. Monday to announce the election call, giving all parish candidates seven days to qualify. It has been expected that one of the senatorial candidates might withdraw and run for representative but all maintain they are in the race to stay.

The Ouachita Parish Republican Executive Committee will meet Tuesday to announce the parish call for GOP candidates. The Morehouse Parish Republican Executive Committee issued its election call Friday.

All candidates of either party have seven days to qualify following committee election calls. All committees must issue the call by 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Alderman Post Sought By Yeager

Announcing his candidacy for West Monroe alderman in a special election to be held due to the recent death of Alderman Roland Nix was L. O. (Sam) Yeager, local bank official.

Predicting West Monroe's stance "on the threshold of an outstanding era of progress and development," Yeager declared Friday, "I want to be a part of the leadership that can make it become a reality to its maximum potential."

Yeager, veteran of 16 years banking experience, employed by Central Bank as assistant cashier and manager of the West Monroe office, became the first to announce for the post.

The special election is slated to coincide with the upcoming regular primaries and general election.

A member of Highland Park Baptist Church, Yeager also belongs to Eros Masonic Lodge, is junior steward for the Third Masonic District, a past master and former secretary for four years.

He is a member of the West Monroe Optimist Club, having also served as its president and currently serving as lieutenant governor of Zone B in the state association. Yeager has been voted the club's Optimist of the year.

Active each year in the Parish United Givers' Fund drive, Yeager is a member of West Monroe's Jeff Caldwell High-12 Club, being also a past secretary-treasurer of the state High-12 association. He has served for four years as local secretary-treasurer.

Married and the father of two children, he resides at 1063 Parkwood St.

In announcing his candidacy, Yeager released the following statement:

"After sincere consideration and talks with several people in West Monroe, I have decided to offer my candidacy to fill the vacancy on the West Monroe City Council, caused by the untimely death of Alderman Roland Nix.

"Believing that West Monroe is on the threshold of an outstanding era of progress and development I want to be a part of the leadership that can make it become a reality to its maximum potential.

"I have chosen West Monroe as my home because I believe it to be an outstanding community with an unlimited future. I was born in Eros but have resided in West Monroe for nearly 20 years, where I have been employed in the banking business. Before entering the banking field, I was employed in the construction business.

"I am married to the former Miss Hilda Bunn. We reside at 1063 Parkwood St. and are the parents of two children, a son and a daughter.

"If the people of West Monroe see fit to honor me by electing me to fill the unexpired term now vacant, I promise that I will put forth my very best ability and efforts to be an outstanding alderman. All my decisions will be based on my honest opinion as to what I consider to be in the best interest of West Monroe and its citizens.

"I am not desirous of being elected for any personal or selfish motives. The growth and progress of our city will be my utmost objective.

"I am fully in accord with a pending public improvement program that is being started in the city. I will help fully implement those now under proposal and join wholeheartedly in other future improvement programs that we need to make our city second to none in meeting the needs of our people."

In 1945, the Communist party in the United States ousted Earl Browder as chief and replaced him with William Foster.

Statement Released By Jury Candidate

B. L. (Billy) Banks, who announced his candidacy Friday for one of the four Ward 5 seats on the Ouachita Parish Police Jury, released the following statement.

"I have decided to seek the post of police juror in Ward 5 because I honestly feel the people of this ward as well as Ouachita Parish deserve better representation in this important government body.

"Politically, I am a George Wallace type Democrat. I strongly believe in segregation of the races in our public schools and other public accommodations. In my opinion the so-called Civil Rights Law of 1964 and the so-called Voting Rights Act of 1965 are unconstitutional, and I have strongly opposed these laws as well as other encroachments by the federal government against the rights of private citizens, who represent a majority in this great country.

"I shall continue to oppose, with all the energy I possess, every encroachment against our rights, whether I am elected or not. I feel that every public servant at all levels should devote his energies to restoring the constitution and returning our government to the majority of the people.

"I am for the improvement of roads and drainage maintenance in Ward 5 as well as the entire parish. I am not for any further increase in parish and property taxes at this time as I feel we have adequate revenue to maintain improvements in the parish if present revenues are handled wisely.

"I will welcome all suggestions and work closely with Ward 5 residents on all mutual problems. I believe your police juror should keep his doors open at all times to the people.

"I pledge to be available for any questions or suggestions that you might have. All the people of Ward 5 deserve to be treated fairly, and I pledge to deal impartially with all the matters that may arise.

"Although where possible, I will work closely with other police jurors for the good of the entire parish, my primary responsibility is to the residents of Ward 5. I promise to prayerfully consider any decision I may be called upon to make and if elected will do the very best I can as I would have no other obligation, as a police juror, other than to God and the people of Ward 5. I earnestly and sincerely solicit your vote and support."

Co-chairman of the committee is Jim Williams, chamber manager. Other committee members are Jack Campbell, Jack Gates, Davis Haggan, Paul Goldman, Harry Arthur, Joe Barry Mullins, Phares Cordeur, William Lillyman, Bill Haddad and Howard.

Silver Star Presentation Made Locally

A Winnsboro mother, Mrs. Olen Curington, of Rt. 5, Box 200, Friday accepted the U.S. Army Silver Star Medal awarded posthumously to her son, Pvt. L.C. Clarence E. Rollen.

Pvt. Rollen was killed in heavy fighting near Pleiku, South Vietnam on March 14, 1967. It was the second posthumous award for the area soldier.

Mrs. Curington accepted the Purple Heart Medal in formal ceremonies in Monroe earlier this summer.

The accompanying citation describes young Rollen's actions during the battle and terms them "in the highest traditions" of the U.S. Army.

"His courage and dedication to his fellow soldiers, which permitted his wounded comrades to be moved to safety is a tribute to his superb character and superior qualities as a soldier," the citation read.

During a search and destroy mission Rollen's unit came under heavy machine gun fire and was pinned down. Rollen crawled close to the entrenched position of the enemy and destroyed it with a hand grenade.

He was then wounded by fragments from an enemy hand grenade.

Juveniles And Courts

A United States Supreme Court decision some months ago holding that juveniles are entitled to the same protection in court, including attorneys and full development of evidence, as adults probably has not yet had much influence on state juvenile courts but changes are on the way, even though they may come slowly.

Whether juveniles are better off or worse off, in ordinary circumstances, under present state laws, is debatable. Many police and court authorities hold that law enforcement would be far easier if juveniles were less protected in some ways.

Under Louisiana law, for instance a juvenile traffic offender receives different treatment from an adult but in most instances both juveniles and parents might be better pleased if the juveniles were handled as adults when the offense is only a misdemeanor. If a juvenile is involved in an automobile accident in which he is to blame and in which he is charged with reckless driving, he may escape the fine which an adult would pay, but a black mark is placed against his record. If he is not called into court on the first offense, he may have to face a juvenile judge on later offenses. In the most severe cases, he might be deprived of his license and sent to a detention home.

On the other hand, an adult is not likely to escape a fine but he no longer has the possibility of punishment for that offense unless he is subsequently shown to be a dangerous driver.

Louisiana still has a law which prohibits any publicity on a juvenile involved in a misdemeanor or a crime. There are some officials who believe newspaper stories and other publicity regarding juvenile offenses would help to reduce the juvenile crime rate.

On this question, Judge Lester H. Loble of Helena, Mont., said, "Publicity does a lot." National Observer quoted him further.

"If he's big enough and tough enough to topple a tombstone or wreck a school or snatch a purse, or beat up an old man," the jurist said in a deep, hoarse voice, "he's big enough and tough enough to be tried in open court."

Judge Loble is a vehement advocate of open-court hearings for young felons as the best method of stemming the nation's skyrocketing juvenile crime rate. He argues that publicizing the names of defendants is a deterrent to delinquency. "Publicity does a lot," he says. "We have publicity about some kids and they don't come back."

Six years ago, the Montana legislature, at his urging, enacted a law that requires an open hearing when a juvenile is tried on a written petition charging felony. The act soon became known as the "Loble Law" and the judge has reaped nationwide admiration and abuse because of it. Increasingly, demands are heard in other states for similar laws.

It was not until he retired from his law practice in 1956 that Loble ran for one of the two judgeships in Montana's first judicial district. He won by a scant 30 votes, and assumed the duties of juvenile judge as part of the job.

Shortly after his first election, Judge Loble decided something had to be done to clean up delinquency problems in Helena. After visiting J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, himself a strong advocate of open trials and severe punishment for tough juvenile felons, and studying juvenile courts in New York City, the judge decided that what Montana needed was less secrecy in handling juvenile felons.

He proposed the open court bill to the legislature in 1959 and it was adopted in 1961. At an open hearing, full news coverage is allowed, but not photographs. Newspapers can publish the name of the defendant, his parents' names and a description of the crime.

Judge Loble argues that many youngsters are dissuaded from committing crimes because they fear public exposure, and that parents watch their children more closely because they fear the shame of having their son or daughter publicly branded as a delinquent.

He says his open-court hearings for juvenile felons have sharply reduced major youth crimes in his jurisdiction, which includes Lewis and Clark County and Broadwater County. Helena, with a population of 25,000 encompasses about 70 per cent of the district's 35,000 people.

In view of the recent Supreme Court decision and because many are becoming convinced that publicity for juveniles helps to reduce crimes, a good many states are expected to change their juvenile laws within the next few years. There is not much doubt that some of these laws are antiquated.

Ponies Chase Robot Calves

If a fatted calf loses 100 pounds of good beef while being chased in the training of a cow pony, how many beef cattle raisers will consent to let the trainee ponies chase their calves? The answer is, "Not enough."

A news item stated that the high price of beef is creating problems for trainers of cow ponies.

Figuring there is an answer to every problem, a company in Brenham, Tex., is manufacturing furry plastic robot calves for ponies to practice on.

Mounted on wheels and controlled by a cowboy across the corral, the robot calves move more evasively and faster than real calves, and the ponies therefore learn their jobs quicker.

Drugs And Driving

Meeting in far-away Honolulu, The American Bar Association gave special attention to one of the growing problems of the United States—the greatly increased use of drugs that affect a person's ability to drive an automobile.

Drugs have become second only to intoxicating liquor as a traffic peril. The threat is implicit in the sale of several hundred million dollars in drugs, including pep pills, tranquilizers and popular barbiturates.

Judge Kaliste J. Saloom of Lafayette, La., said that while the law is specific in the case of drunken driving, it has failed to keep abreast of the growing number of drugs that affect drivers. The result, he said, is that many cases are dismissed because there is no law to cover them.

The uniform narcotics law, which has been adopted by 47 states, covers such "true narcotics as morphine, heroin, opium and marijuana," Saloom said. But, he added, there are hosts of other drugs that have a potent effect on drivers but are not defined by law.

Since laws seem to be unable to stop the use of such potentially dangerous drugs as LSD and others of a less hallucinatory type, it would seem reasonable to make users of these dangerous drugs responsible in accidents in which such drugs are involved.

VICTOR LAWRENCE

Drug Law Tightening Sought

Selling Pep Pills, Goof Balls Would Be Felony

CONGRESS is being asked to amend the Drug Abuse Act of 1965 making it a felony instead of a misdemeanor for anyone convicted of illegally manufacturing or selling barbiturates and amphetamines, the well-known goof balls and pep pills.

The proposed legislation would also compel anyone dealing with these two drugs to keep separate records of all transactions at the discretion of the Bureau of Drug Abuse Control. These proposals are aimed at stepping up the attack on the serious and spreading problem of drug abuse and addiction.

Also, hopefully, it will help curb the widespread traffic in counterfeit drugs which Director John Finlator of the Bureau of Drug Abuse Control estimates now exceeds $25,000,000 annually.

AT CONGRESSIONAL hearings preceding passage of the Drug Abuse Act in 1965 it was estimated that 9 billion barbiturate and amphetamine tablets were being produced yearly in the United States. It was also estimated that over 50 per cent—or 4½ billion of these tablets—were being distributed through illegal channels.

Black marketers have been making a killing on these drugs. Authorities say barbiturates and amphetamines with a retail value of only $670 sell in illicit channels for as much as $250,000.

These drugs are potentially dangerous. For instance, the New York City Health Department revealed that between 1957 and 1963 there were 3,469 cases of barbiturate poisoning in New York City. Of this number 1,165 cases were fatal and listed as suicides or deaths due to unknown causes. The rest, nonfatal, included 4,179 attempted suicides, 744 accidental poisonings and 2,351 poisonings due to undetermined circumstances.

PERSONS WHO come in possession of counterfeit drugs are in even greater danger. During 1964, the New York State Board of Pharmacy uncovered 131 different samples of spurious drugs. A drug company official, referring to these fake drugs, said at the time:

"The industry is bedeviled constantly by counterfeit drugs whose annual sales amount to between $50 and $100 million."

Margaret Kreis, author of "Black Market Medicine," testified before a House Government Operations subcommittee: "Because of the virtual immunity of black marketeering in medications with millions of potential innocent customers, the Mafia is moving in."

Preparations of underworld origin have been found in drugists' stocks of tranquilizers, sedatives, stimulants, hormones, blood pressure depressants, antibiotics, diuretics, asthma remedies, weight reducers, arthritis drugs and so on.

GEORGE LARRICK, former Commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration, similarly testified that organized crime rings are actively bootlegging these drugs throughout the country in operations dealing with millions of tablets and capsules.

Representative Theodore R. Kufperman, Republican, New York, author of the tougher legislation now under consideration, says:

"Organized crime rings must be permitted to distort the use of needed medications by turning them into addiction traps for young people or by distributing non-effective drug combinations disguised in legitimate packages. They must be stopped now."

"Inasmuch as the penalty for such activities is a misdemeanor, the defendant usually gets off with a suspended sentence, and the crime syndicate merely places another 'frontman' into the operation and continues to operate the business as usual without any fear of severe criminal punishment."

KUPFERMAN asked the Bureau of Drug Abuse Control if it felt raising the first offense from misdemeanor to felony status would help reduce the traffic in these drugs. It replied:

"We would warmly endorse legislation to that end."

The other part of the Kufperman bill would compel drug manufacturers and wholesalers to keep separate records on the production of barbiturates and amphetamines, making it far easier for FDA inspectors to determine where violations occur.

This is essential in view of the fact there are some 6,000 firms which are required to register with FDA and keep records under the 1965 Drug Abuse laws. Also, there are an additional 73,000 other establishments that are required to maintain records but not required to register. This includes 54,000 pharmacies, 9,000 hospitals and clinics, 8,000 drug dispensing doctors and 2,000 research facilities.

Thus, it has become obvious in only two years that a productive inspection of these records has become impractical and some new means had to be found.

SYLVIA PORTER

Method Of Detecting Diamond Gyp Is Told

THE UNIQUELY skilled diamond cutters of Israel are now back in full production. The fortunes in rough diamonds which were shipped out of the country on the eve of the Mideast war in early June for safekeeping in vaults in Europe and the U.S. have been returned. Israel, second largest producer of polished diamonds in the world, is once again finishing precious diamonds for export.

But the Mideast war—as wars and world crises usually do—has left its mark on the diamond's price. On the first Monday following the outbreak, the price of a large parcel of cut diamonds offered for sale in the New York Diamond Club was reported to have been jacked up 50 per cent; on the first Tuesday the parcel was withdrawn altogether. Israel's rapid victory abruptly halted the price upsurge, but as of today retail prices of popular-sized diamonds are up 3 per cent over May, according to Fred Goldman, president of Medco, Inc., the world's largest jewelry firm selling fine diamonds in 122 department stores across the country.

IT'S UNLIKELY that you will buy diamonds as an investment—and unless you are a highly trained expert, you should not try to play against the pros in this game. It's also unlikely that you will put substantial amounts of your savings in diamonds.

But almost surely you will buy or own a diamond or two or more in your lifetime. More than 80 per cent of men in the 18 to 25-year age bracket in this country buy an average ½ carat diamond engagement ring for their fiancées. The average U.S. family is among the principal buyers of the world's diamonds.

But while the long-term trend of diamond prices is strongly upward, the market value of the stones you buy may be a fraction of what you pay—unless you keep out of the hands of the diamond gyps. What's more, no agency of the law—federal, state or local—or any business bureau or any jeweler's trade association stringently polices the individual sale of diamonds through retail outlets. Even so-called "reputable" jewelers have "painted off inferior diamonds to an unknowledgeable consumer," warns the Jewelers Vigilance Committee, an association of jewelers created to regulate the industry's advertising and the committee adds the deception may be hidden by incorrect and collusive appraisals.

YOUR FUNDAMENTAL guide is obvious: buy only from an established jeweler whose reputation you can trust. Goldman also suggests you may be able to detect an unscrupulous dealer if he tries to sell you:

(1) A perfect blue-white diamond. There aren't any in the whole world. In fact, the term "blue-white" is illegal and any jeweler who describes a stone as such, says Goldman, "is committing a fraudulent sales act."

(2) An artificially colored diamond. This is a genuine diamond of poor color. The diamond may be colored by an electronic treatment of atomic bombardment to bring up its brilliance and make it permanent, or the diamond's back may be colored with a blue dye which is not permanent. In either case, a jeweler must state in writing before the diamond is sold what treatment was used, under penalty of fine and jail. The first penalty was recently imposed in New York City, when a jeweler was fined $1,000 and jailed for 60 days for not notifying a customer in writing in advance of a sale of a diamond's artificial coloring.

(3) A PIGGY-BACK diamond. This is a small diamond placed in close proximity to another, with the mounting hiding the separations of the stones and making the two small diamonds look like one large one. Dishonest jewelers will try to sell this as, says, "one carat in diamonds" or some other deceptive advertising.

(4) A synthetic diamond which will look like the real thing. Its chemical term, though, will be "colorless synthetic spinel," or "colorless synthetic sapphire," or "synthetic rutile," or "strontium titanite."

A diamond's real value will be directly dependent on the four "C's": carat (weight), color, clarity and cut. These are standard yardsticks and reputable dealers usually will evaluate a diamond against these yardsticks at a similar price. Don't try to outwit the pros. Just get your money's worth, and over the years you'll come out way ahead.

Government Poverty Program 'Sabotage'

By REPRESENTATIVE JOHN B. ANDERSON (REP., ILL.)
(Guest columnist for Ralph de Toledano)

THE RECENT statement of the Republican Coordinating Committee charging President Johnson and the Democratic Administration with responsibility for recent riots in major American cities across the land has understandably aroused much partisan controversy. The Democratic response has been to charge Republicans with failure to give support to many Administration measures that Democratic Party spokesmen claim would attack the root causes of poverty. When the President himself was asked for a statement on the riots in Newark and Plainfield, New Jersey, he responded with what has almost become an incantation on such occasions. I refer to his plea for a bigger poverty program, rent supplements and the Demonstration or Model Cities program.

There is, however, one subject about which the President and the members of his party have been completely silent in discussing the plight of the impoverished slum dweller. That is the extent to which the ruinous fiscal policies of the present Administration are feeding the fires of inflation and not only robbing the poor of their purchasing power, but making it increasingly more difficult to rebuild the nation's slums because of the high costs involved.

THREE TRADE associations in the lumber industry recently proposed a highly imaginative program designed to rehabilitate 150 housing units in one of the most slum-ridden areas of the country. I refer to the Hough area of Cleveland, where large-scale rioting took place last year. These organizations invested more than $50,000 in studies in an effort to demonstrate the feasibility of rehabilitating entire neighborhoods. A few days ago they announced that their plans for large-scale rehabilitation of slum dwellings in the blighted Hough area had been stalled, because their studies revealed that the costs might be prohibitive.

Indeed, their studies allegedly show that the proposed rehabilitation project would cost at least $500,000 over the estimated mortgage value of the completed structures. Although the matter is still under study, there seems to be a strong likelihood that these increased costs spell the doom of this project. This is only one illustration of many that could be given to show that when we talk about riots and the root causes of poverty, we should label inflation as Public Enemy Number One. Inflation has often been referred to as the cruellest tax of all because it is paid by those who can least afford to pay it.

IN 1966 consumer prices rose 3.3 per cent, about three times as fast as in the previous five years. These price rises mean that the American consumer suffered a loss of $16.5 million in his annual buying power. Expressed another way, these price rises mean that the American consumer suffered a loss of $16.5 million in his annual buying power. Expressed another way, these price rises were equivalent to a reduction of $45 billion in the value of the accumulated savings of Americans. It is a well-known and uncontested economic principle that the poor spend most of their income on basic necessities. Therefore, when the prices of those commodities advance it is the poor who suffer.

Furthermore, in some metropolitan areas, surveys indicate that residents of low-income neighborhoods may pay as much as 15 per cent more for food than those in middle-income areas. Consequently, price rises have an even greater impact in these low-income areas. There is absolutely no doubt at all that the 97 per cent increase in federal spending that has occurred since 1960 is largely responsible for the sharp increase that has taken place in the cost of living. Therefore, government-sponsored inflation is in truth contributing to the inability of many poor families to rise above the so-called poverty line.

The old saying about robbing Peter to pay Paul certainly comes to mind when we contemplate the plight of the poor. For the same government that seeks with one hand to reach into our pockets to pay for the proliferation of welfare programs is also busy with its other hand reaching into the pockets of the poor and diluting their already meager purchasing power.

FORTUNATELY, some hopeful signs are finally beginning to emerge. Even such self-avowed liberals as the Junior Senator from New York realize that, and I quote him in a recent speech on the Floor of the Senate: "Much of the present federal anti-poverty strategy is ineffective, inefficient and degrading." The disenchantment of some liberals with the present federal effort is further mirrored in their support of legislation that would mobilize the immense resources of the private sector of our economy to fight the war on poverty and to rehabilitate the slums of America.

Proposals like the one to establish a National Home Ownership Foundation, to encourage home ownership by low-income groups, would bring as much as $2 billion of private capital into the housing market. However, I return to my original premise. One root cause of poverty for which government is directly to blame is the constant cheapening of the value of the dollar. Maybe the time has come for the generalissimo of the War on Poverty, Mr. Sargent Shriver, to have a Sargent session with the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Fowler, and the Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Mr. William McChesney Martin Jr.

Carmichael Indulges In Anti-Americanism

THE WILD DISPLAY of anti-Americanism by Stokely Carmichael during the international Communist meeting in Havana confirms the warnings which I have written in these columns.

Guerrilla warfare tactics, adopted by Communists in many other countries of the world, are now being tried out in America.

Rather than riots in the old sense, must we now face the possibility of urban guerrilla warfare, feeding on and flaring up in general civil disorder?

The entire Havana meeting dwelled endlessly on this proposed conspiracy to incite further violence in the United States.

For anyone who thinks that this conference was just an exercise in hot air, there is bloody evidence to the contrary. The last similar conference held in Havana, emphasized guerrilla warfare in Latin America. It spoke, almost softly then, of creating "new Vietnams" with which to throw the United States off balance.

SINCE THEN LATIN America has been plagued constantly not only by guerrilla warfare but also by a rash of political assassinations, kidnappings, robberies and other acts of terror.

Reporters in this country have produced evidence that the guerrilla warfare experts who are working out of the Communist Cuban base have made solid contacts with so-called civil rights groups in this country such as Stokely Carmichael's own base, the Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee.

Such violence-oriented groups as RAM, The Revolutionary Action Movement, may directly be linked to the guerrilla planning now centered in Cuba.

During the Havana meeting, Stokely Carmichael told our State Department to "go to h—" when it pointed out that he had gone to Cuba illegally.

He urged war to the death in America. He sees the streets of our cities as endless series of Vietnams.

HE HAS PREACHED sedition, treason, violence, riot, murder and in short, has declared war on the United States.

The grim question to which—as Stokely continues his travels probably to Prague and to Hanoi itself—is simply whether or not the United States is going to allow this calumny of our country to continue.

The first part of the answer will lie in the severity and tenacity of legal action that is taken when and if Stokely Carmichael ever tries to re-enter the country he so bitterly hates, for this hate-filled man has not simply "spoken out" in a way that he can claim protection of our free speech guarantees. He has, instead, incited violence, called for the killing of Americans, and in short, spoken as an enemy commander calling troops to attack.

We must have the wits and the will to stop the Stokely Carmichaels and his Communist friends who threaten us, and we must do it with the spirit of freedom and individual respect these men are trying to burn out of existence.

New Orleans Topless Girl Closes Club

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A night club in the French Quarter, where nudity is not uncommon, was padlocked Friday because two waitresses wore topless costumes.

Judge Sanford S. Levy of Civil District Court granted a request for a permanent injunction against operators of the Jamaican Village Inn. The court ordered the bar padlocked for one year. The action came in a test of local obscenity laws.

At the same time, in another lawsuit in the same court, the operators were fined $750 in court costs and $250 in damages.

The owner of the building Edward Centa, who claimed he did not know that the girls were inadequately clad, asked for cancellation of the lease, $2,000 in attorney's fees and $15,000 damages.

Levy granted the cancellation and ordered the club's operator, Jay Bennett, and its licensee, Robert Songy, to vacate the building and pay the fines.

Fines of $50 were paid for two waitresses who pleaded guilty to obscenity charges.

Cepeda Wins Warm Card Welcome

Oliva Squeezes White Sox Twice

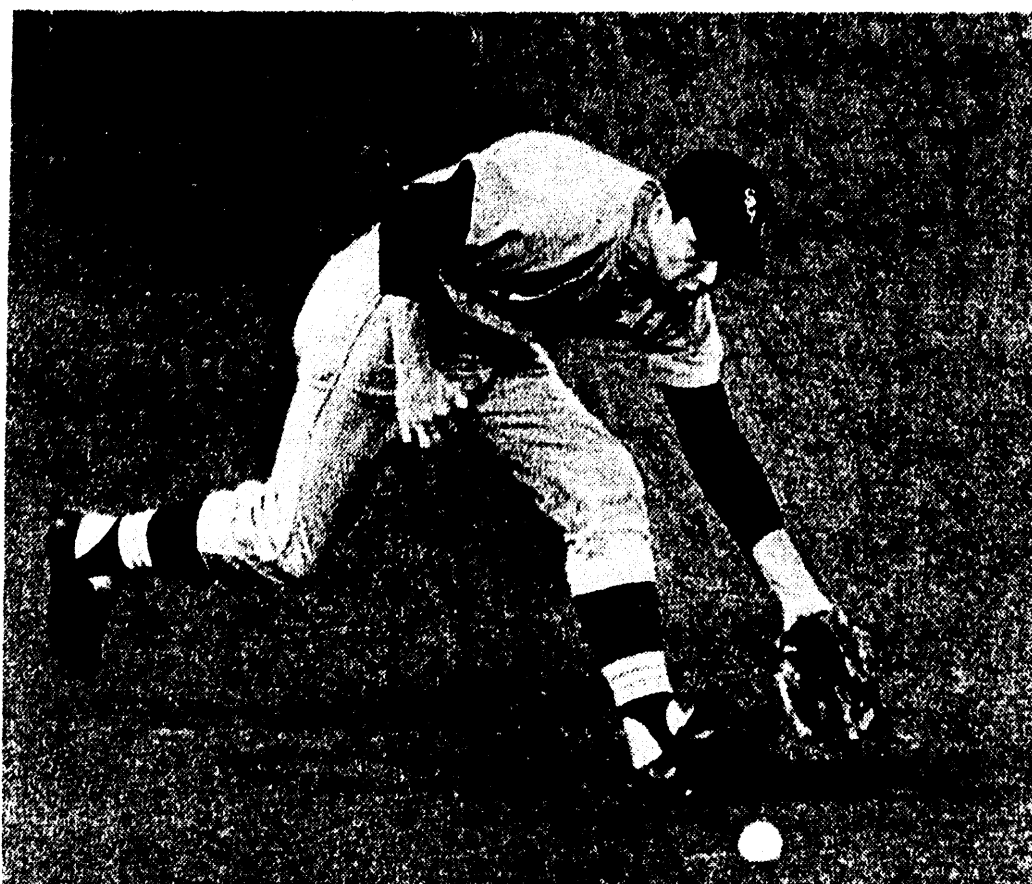

Two-Run Blast Nips Giants, 2-1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Orlando Cepeda marked his return to the line-up with a huge two-run homer in the sixth inning and Joe Hoerner came in to put out a eighth-inning Giant uprising as the St. Louis Cardinals slipped past San Francisco 2-1 Friday night.

The victory moved the Cardinals 8½ games ahead of the second-place Chicago Cubs, who lost to Philadelphia, and nine games ahead of San Francisco. Cepeda had been suspended for two games after an argument with umpire Stan Landes Tuesday. His 21st homer of the year drove in Roger Maris and dropped into the second level of the left field stands.

Starter Nelson Briles and loser Gaylord Perry were locked in a scoreless game until Cepeda's blast. In the eighth inning Jesus Alou singled with two out and Willie Mays was safe on an error. Willie McCovey singled in a run and Jim Hart was walked by reliever Ron Willis. Hoerner came in to get pinch hitter Jack Hilt.

Ryun, Keino Meet

Mile Mark Could Tumble

LONDON (AP) — Jim Ryun, 27, world champion of Wichita, Kan., and Kenya's Kipchoge Keino, 26, met on Friday night for a match race which may lower the mile record to a point never imagined in history.

They meet Saturday at 10:30 a.m. EDT in the feature of the Britain vs. United States meet. Even though Keino finished a bad second to Ryun in the U.S. 27-year-old Kenyan police- man said, "I am not prophesying."

ago their rematch has the track world agog.

There are forecasts of a 3:55.4. That's some 15 or 16 yards slower than Ryun's record run.

Keino's best time to date is 3:55.4. That's some 15 or 16 yards slower than Ryun's record run.

The Kenyan star has brought David Munjai, 20-year-old Nairobi student, along as a pacer.

Munjai has done no better than 4:06.8 but he could be the man to set the pace at the start of the race and help Keino to the fast first lap he needs.

Keino would then have to prove he has the stamina to hold off Ryun's famous finishing burst.

Ryun, who arrived late Thursday night, said: "If Keino does a first lap of 58 seconds, that will suit me fine. I know the pace is going to be very hot."

The 20-year-old, tall American, declined to say if he would let someone else make the pace.

"I'm just going to run to win," Ryun said.

People say "I'm a front runner. But don't forget that in the mile against Keino at Los Angeles I came from behind to win."

The White City track is not a particularly fast one. Often in the past when the world's great runners have competed there, records have been predicted, and the times have been disappointing.

Also in the race is Alan Simpson of England. His best mile thus far is 3:55.7.

Pittsburgh To Get New Arena

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Revised plans for Pittsburgh's new north side stadium were unveiled Friday, and the director of the Stadium Authority said, "we are confident that this will mean a significant reduction in the cost of the project."

The Authority opened bids last year for the proposed 54,000-seat, open-end, circular stadium and the lowest came in at $35 million—$12 million more than the Authority had planned to spend.

The plans were then sent back to the architects, and Friday they unveiled plans that call for an enclosed oval structure with a seating capacity of 50,000.

Minnesota Closes Gap, With Win

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Tony Oliva lined his second run-scoring single of the game to left with two out in the seventh inning, lifting Minnesota past the Chicago White Sox 3-2 Friday night.

Zoilo Versalles, who had singled and stolen second, raced home with the run that broke a 2-2 tie as Oliva laced the first pitch from relief pitcher Wilbur Wood over the shortstop's head.

Wood relieved Bob Locker, who had come in to pitch to one batter—Cesar Tovar—and retired him on a grounder to third base. Versalles touched John Buzhardt for his hit that ignited the winning rally, then stole second easily as catcher J. C. Martin dropped the ball on a swinging strike to Tovar.

Minnesota tied it with a run off Buzhardt in the sixth when Bob Allison singled, moved to second on a ground out and scored on pinch hitter Russ Nixon's single to center. Oliva also poked a single between third and shortstop in the first inning to score a run off White Sox starter Bruce Howard. Versalles also scored that run, beating out a single to third and moving to second as Tovar grounded out on a hit-and-run.

Chicago took a 2-1 lead against veteran Dean Chance, 15-8, on Rocky Colavito's bases loaded single in the fifth. The White Sox loaded the bases on Ron Hansen's hit to deep short, Don Buford's single to left and an intentional walk to Pete Ward with two out. Colavito lined a two-strike pitch from Chance over second, scoring Hansen and Buford.

Aussies Rise In Meadow Net Meet

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y. (AP) — Owen Davidson, the favorite, led a quartet of Australians into the semifinal round of the 78th Invitation Meadow Club Grass Court Tennis Tournament Friday with a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Mexico's Joaquin Loy-Mayo.

The left-handed Davidson required only 25 minutes on a very fast quarter-final program which resulted also in Bill Bowrey, Ray Ruffels and Terry Addison also advancing.

Bowrey, seeded No. 2, eliminated Ray Moore of South Africa, seeded fifth, 6-4, 13-11.

Ruffels, seeded fourth, defeated Gene Scott of St. James, N.Y., the 1964 winner who was seeded seventh, 6-3, 6-4.

Addison, seeded, got past Paul Cranis of New York, a 32-year old salesman, when Cranis suffered a muscle pull in his right leg. Addison's winning scores were 15-13, 2-2, default.

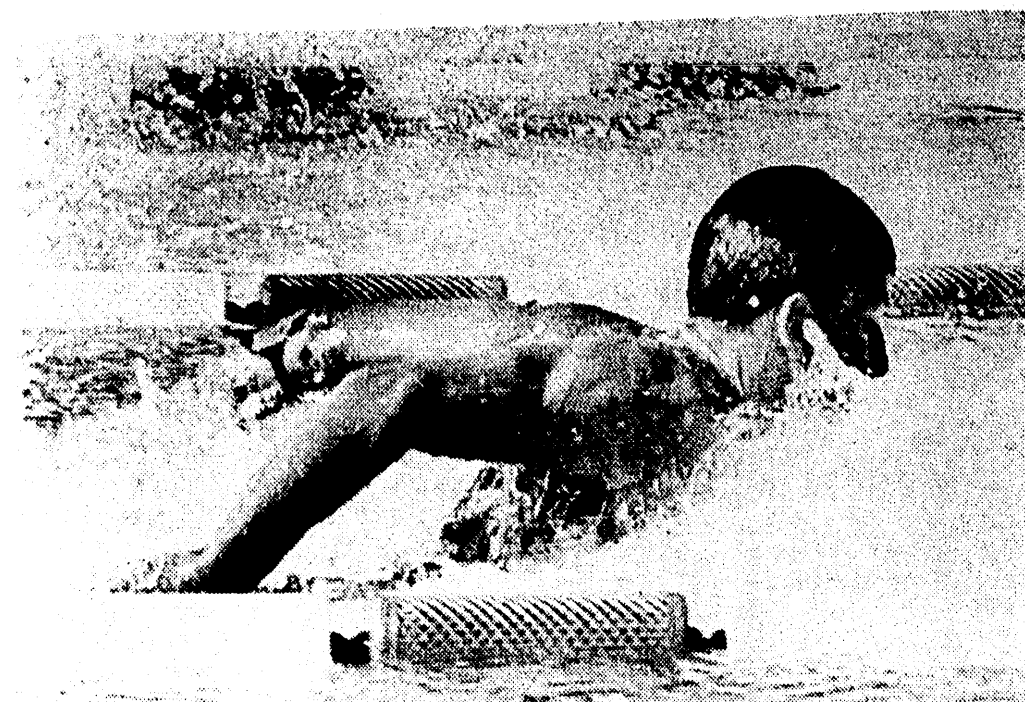

None, however, had the power and finesse displayed by Davidson. He gave his Mexican foe the first game of the first set and the fourth game of the second set, winning seven in a row between.

Bowrey, beaten by Moore at Merion earlier this summer, avenged the defeat in a surprising match. In the first set, neither seemed able to hold service. In the second set, neither could break service.

They went through four service breaks to start the match and then Bowrey got the crucial break in the ninth game. They duelled on service to 11-all in the second set. Bowrey scored the break in the 23rd game after Moore had rallied from 6-40 to deuce. Bowrey's deep placements and overhead volleys were the difference.

Ruffels, a Wimbledon quarter-finalist, swept to 3-0 against Scott before the American got into the match. Scott had chances to break in the second, eighth and 10th games of the second set but failed.

Addison broke Cranis' service in the 48th game of the first set to end the stirring volley duet. As Cranis won service to make it 2-2 in the second set, he suffered the leg injury which forced him to default.

Johnson's Call-Up Leaves Cards Nearly Blank At QB

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) — With veteran quarterback Charley Johnson scheduled for Army induction Aug. 22, Coach Charley Johnson of the St. Louis Cardinals said Friday he will go with three young, inexperienced signal callers.

"We can't get panicky," Johnson said. "We're going with what we have." With the National Football League campaign five weeks away, Johnson has Jim Hart, a one-year man with 17 NFL plays at quarterback to his credit, and two untried rookies.

Johnson, who holds a commission in the Army reserve, was notified Thursday of his induction. The Cardinals announced it Friday morning.

St. Louis had expected to make a strong bid for the NFL title this fall with a healthy Johnson. The six-year veteran missed seven complete games last year with a knee injury that required surgery.

Hart, signed as a free agent a year ago off the Southern Illinois University campus, appears tabbed as the No. 1 quarterback. Rounding out the quarterback crew are rookies Tim Van Galder and Vidal Carlin.

Winner said at the Lake Forest College training camp that the Cardinals had tried since the end of last season to obtain a veteran quarterback. He acknowledged the team was worried about Johnson's injured knee as well as his military status.

"We could have had a Gary Cuozzo from Baltimore," Winner said. "But we wouldn't have had anybody to block for him." Winner was implying the Cardinals needed offensive linemen and would have demanded several front-line Cardinal regulars for Cuozzo.

"I think Hart can do it," Winner continued. He noted that Hart has as much experience as Johnson had when he became a starter in 1962.

"This is one place where Harry Gilmer can help as a quarterback coach," Winner went on. "And Johnson, too, can try to pass on as much knowledge as he can to Jim in the next week or so."

Even before Johnson's induction notice was received, the Cardinals had announced plans to start Hart at quarterback when they meet New Orleans in an exhibition game Saturday night in Shreveport, La. The club said it wanted to protect Johnson's knee from re-injury.

All-Star Tilt Had Record Viewers

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert said Friday that a record 55 million persons, the largest television audience ever to view a non-World Series game, watched the 1967 major league All-Star game from Anaheim, Calif., last July. The National League won the game in 15 innings.

The commissioner said the figure came from the Neilson Ratings, which showed the game was watched by 25.6 percent of the television sets in the country. The program was carried by the National Broadcasting Company.

The only game that had a bigger audience, the commissioner said, was the final game of the 1966 World Series between Baltimore and Los Angeles, which had an estimated 60 million viewers.

president of the club, said, "this comes as a blow to the Cardinals, as it would to any NFL club which lost its No. 1 quarterback. However, we realize that Charley has a primary obligation to his country and we must put our personal feeling behind any call by our nation."

Johnson had held a reserve officer's commission since graduating from New Mexico State University in 1961. His two-year Army commitment had been delayed several times so he could complete advance education in chemical engineering and because of his football injuries.

The quarterback also suffered a shoulder separation in 1965 that required surgery.

"I'm ready to go into the Army right now," Johnson said Friday. "But the thing that surprised me was that I had been rejected so often in the Army's physical examinations required annually." He said both of his knees are unstable and both shoulders are loose.

The value of the 28-year-old quarterback to the club can best be illustrated by noting that when Johnson was healthy over the past two seasons, the Cardinals won 11 games, lost two and tied one. Without Johnson, they won only two of 14 games in the same period.

In six seasons, Johnson completed 858 of 1,691 passes for 12,589 yards and 93 touchdowns. His best seasons were 1963 and 1964 before he was beset with injuries.

Yanks Sweep Two Off Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bill Robinson's homer and a three-run ninth inning gave New York a 4-1 victory over Cleveland Friday and a sweep of a two-night doubleheader.

The Yankees won the first game 5-3 despite two homers by Don Demeter.

Luis Tiant, 7-8, gave up only two hits in the eight innings he worked in the opener, but the Yanks carried a 1-0 lead from the fifth inning when Robinson hit his sixth homer.

Tillman followed with a single, the last hit off Tiant who was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Doubles by Mickey Mantle and Charley Smith in the ninth inning drove in the last three New York runs, Smith's hit accounting for two of them.

Panamanians Flocking In

NEW YORK (AP) — Thousands of Panamanians are flying in for the world light weight title fight here next Wednesday between champion Carlos Ortiz of Puerto Rico and Ismael Laguna of Panama, the Madison Square Garden Corp., said Friday.

"It probably is the biggest influx of foreign visitors for a fight ever," said a Garden spokesman. "There will be between 2,000 and 5,000 coming in."

Ortiz will pitch a ring in the middle of 12th Street in Spanish Harlem for a workout Saturday. Laguna worked out in the Madison Square Garden ring Friday and prepared to take the weekend off.

Panamanians flying to the city for the fight are carrying huge banners which say in Spanish: To the Moon With Laguna.

Wayne McGee Is Top Racer

Wayne McGee took two first place honors and one third at the Cajun Raceway Friday night.

McGee took top honors in the fast trophy race and the feature race followed by Freddy Cook who was second in the feature. A. Z. Ellis grabbed off a first place in the slow trophy run while Howard Halterman took top honors in the slow heat followed by Tommy Bonner and Jimmy Carter both finished second and third respectively.

Freddy Cook took top honors in the fast heat race while Floyd Cook and Wayne McGee finished second and third. Charlie Barr downed Herman Moore to take top money in the consolation.

Wild Pitch Puts Angels On Winpath

ANAHEIM (AP) — Jim McGlothlin pitched a three-hitter and Jimmie Hall scored on a fourth inning wild pitch Friday night as the California Angels defeated Boston 1-0.

The wild pitch followed singles by Hall and Don Mincher and enabled McGlothlin, 1-4, to win a pitching duel from right-hander Lee Stange, 7-8. Stange allowed only four hits in the seven innings he pitched.

The series opening victory lifted the fifth-place Angels within three games of front runner Chicago in the scrambled American League race. The loss dropped Boston from second place to third, two games behind the White Sox.

Saints Show Stuff At Shreveport

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Louisiana gets its first look at its new pro football team—the New Orleans Saints—here Saturday night and the St. Louis Cardinals start looking for a new quarterback.

The two National Football League teams clash in a pre-season game in State Fair Stadium. A sellout crowd of 32,000 is expected for the 8 p.m., CST kickoff.

It marks the second game for the expansion franchise New Orleans team. The Saints bowed 16-7 to the Los Angeles Rams in their initial game 10 days ago.

Rather than being disheartened by their "near-miss" before 27,000 curiously pro-New Orleans fans in Anaheim's "Big A" stadium, the Saints instead are as proud as punch over their strong first-game showing.

Fears points out that the Saints committed very few procedural errors that would produce drive-killing penalties and, in deed, managed to put together a 16-play drive for their lone touchdown, a rare accomplishment for a young team playing its first game. Even the staunchest Rams supporters admit that the fledgling Saints just barely missed a chance for a classic upset when a late drive stalled on the Rams' 2-yard line.

As he plans to do throughout the pre-season schedule, Fears will promote his players from unit to unit in direct relationship to their showing in the previous weeks' game so at least 10 new faces will be in the Saints' starting lineup. Five offensive players will get their first starting shot, as will five players from the defensive unit.

"Once the regular season gets under way, we won't change our starting lineup very often," Fears explains. "But right now, we will give every player a chance to prove himself as a starter if his play the week before warrants such a chance. This is one reason our players are working so hard. They know they will probably have to win their season - long jobs this month."

Cardinal Coach Charley Winster hadn't planned to start his No. 1 quarterback, Charley Johnson, in the exhibition clash here but he got a hard blow Friday when Johnson was notified of his Army induction.

"We can't get panicky," said Winner. "We're going with what we have."

What Winner has is Jim Hart, who called 17 plays last year, and two untried rookies—Tim Van Galder and Vidal Carlin. "I think Hart can do it," optimistically pipes Winner, whose team fell apart last year after Johnson was injured.

Coach Tom Fears doesn't plan to go with the Saints' No. 1 quarterback either — but for much different reasons.

Bill Kilmer, acquired from the 49ers in the expansion draft, engineered the Saints to their lone touchdown against the Rams and is being rewarded with the starting assignment.

Fears said he would use Gary Wood, the former New York Giant, as the back-up man and leave Gary Cuozzo, who is expected to be the starter when the season begins, on the bench.

"I don't think we'll get the ball enough to use three quarterbacks," said Fears, indicating he has healthy respect for the Cardinal defense.

The Saints, in training at California Western University in San Diego, come back to Louisiana next week for an exhibition clash with the Pittsburgh Steelers in Baton Rouge.

Baxter Retains Akron Lead

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Rex Baxter Jr., wriggling free from the disaster of two double bogeys, fired a second straight subpar round Friday to retain the lead in the $100,000 American Golf Classic.

The 31-year-old Texan, who has only one tournament victory in his 10 years as a pro, shot a 71-68 Friday for a two-day total of 139, six strokes under the demanding par of 35-35-70 at the Firestone Country Club.

Picking up six birdies to go with his two double bogeys, Baxter found himself two strokes ahead of Jack McGowan and three in front of awakening Arnold Palmer.

McGowan whipped up a 35-32-67 to go along with his opening 69 and Palmer, who settled for a par 70 Thursday, scrambled to a 35-32-67 and a 137 total.

U.S. Open champion Jack Nicklaus, South African Allan Henning and Bobby Nichols were the only other golfers under par after 36 holes in the 72-hole tournament which ends Sunday.

Nicklaus shot a 35-34-69 for a 136, Henning came up with a brilliant 34-32-66, and 139 and Nichols had a 36-33-69, also for a 139 total.

Grouped at 140 and even par were Bert Vancey, who had a 36-33-69, and Gardner Dickinson with a 33-37-70. Dickinson was grooving, many of which saved him pars after blasting out of traps.

Baxter was threatening to turn the tournament into a one-man show when he made the turn at 31 after dropping four birdie putts. He nailed another birdie on No. 11 and, "I started thinking in terms of 63 or 64," said Baxter.

Disaster then struck as he took a double bogey 6 on 13 and a double bogey 5 on 16.

"I missed getting on in regulation each time and three-putted both holes," said the amiable Baxter.

However, instead of collapsing completely, Baxter dropped a 10-foot birdie putt on the 17th and saved par on No. 18 when he chipped up and sank an eight-footer.

McGowan, who had been off the tour for three months because of a liver ailment, was the only other man to record subpar rounds on successive days over the huge 7,180-yard course.

"I was chipping super and had 10 one-putt greens," said the tiny McGowan, who weighs only 144 pounds.

Palmer called his round "a 36-33-71 and Gardner Dickinson was grooving, many of which saved him pars after blasting out of traps."

Mets Top Bucs, 3-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Danny Frisella, a rookie pitcher, drove in one run, scored another and with late inning help from Don Shaw, pitched the New York Mets to a 3-2 victory over Pittsburgh Friday night.

The loser was Dennis Ribant, an ex-Met. He yielded a run in the first in Bud Harrelson's single, a two-base error by Manny Mota, and a single by Larry Stahl.

The Mets made it 3-0 in the third when Jerry Grote singled and scored on Frisella's double. An infield out and a passed ball allowed Frisella to score what turned out to be the winning run.

Hits by Bill Mazeroski and Mota produced a Pirate run in the fifth and Pittsburgh knocked Frisella out in the seventh when Mota tripled and scored on an infield out.

Shaw came out of the bullpen and pitched shutout ball for the final 1-3 innings.

Coach Named Grambling Dean

GRAMBLING (Special) — Leroy Hawthorne, a master at handling men during 14 years as a line coach at Grambling, was named acting Dean of Men at the North Louisiana College Friday by President R. W. E. Hawthorne replaced Dr. John Calvin who earlier requested a teaching assignment in the division of education to devote increasing time to research.

As a top assistant on coach Eddie Robinson's staff, Hawthorne gained a wide reputation for getting more from some of his men than their abilities warranted.

Hawthorne will carry his coaching philosophy into his new job. "College students are men," he pointed out. "Grambling students know what is expected of them. Our job is to get the best out of them at all times."

His approach to students' personal work has built up through 14 years as an assistant to the Dean of Men here and at Texas College, Tyler.

Students rate him a good or ganizer who is stern enough to settle differences man-to-man, with 3,081.

Hawthorne is considered a master at holding his own fur, and has never been known to rebuke a student in public.

He probably had to suppress his emotions over leaving football after developing such outstanding linemen as Willie Davis, defensive captain, Green Bay Packers; Ernie Ladd, Houston Oilers; Buck Buchanan, Kansas City Chiefs; Frank Purnell, Dallas Cowboys; Al Pritchett, San Diego Chargers; Jim Griffin, San Diego Chargers; Willie Young, New York Jets; and Norman Dawkins, Baltimore Colts.

Police Commissioner Protests Title Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Police Commissioner Howard F. Leary protested Friday the holding of the world lightweight boxing title match between Carlos Ortiz and Ismael Laguna at Panama in Shea Stadium next Wednesday.

Leary wrote Edwin Dooley, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, "I find it difficult to understand why these bouts have been authorized by the commission for this summer date."

His letter was in response to a letter from Dooley asking extra police protection for the fight because "the history of Laguna's followers indicate that sometimes they invoke a violent reaction on the part of his followers."

In the last 21 months, three riots have been staged at the indoor Madison Square Garden under Shea Stadium's roof after Puerto Rican fighters lost decisions.

Thousands of New York's Puerto Rican residents are expected to turn out for the fight, he said, and the police are expected to cheer them on. The lightweight bout if any other help is needed.

Narvaez is scheduled to meet Victor Baeraga in a bout before the championship battle between Ortiz and Laguna.

Harry Markson, director of boxing for Madison Square Garden, said, "We have already arranged for internal security inside the park, and the police are expected to cheer them on. The lightweight bout if any other help is needed."

Markson said the ring has been shifted from the usual second base site to home plate and that only the working press would be seated at ringside.

Chargers To Start Tensi

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Steve Tensi, the rifle-armed quarterback who passed Florida State to two straight victories over Miami in his college days, returns to the Orange Bowl Saturday night in a starting role for the San Diego Chargers.

Charger coach Sid Gillman said the 6-5, 220-pound Tensi will go all the way against the Miami Dolphins in an American Football League Exhibition, regardless of the score.

John Hadl, the regular San Diego quarterback of 1966, guided the Chargers last week in a 24-23 loss to the Oakland Raiders.

"Last week was John's last game," Tensi said. "This one is mine. I think whoever's winning when the season starts will be taking on Tremont Lumber at at quarterback."

In his 1966 rookie season, Tensi showed one flash of brilliance—against Miami. He completed nine of 12 passes for 233 yards and four touchdowns in driving the Chargers to a 41-10 victory after they trailed at halftime, 19-0.

Jones' head for a double and er wall. With one out, Ellis lined scored when Briggs whistled a Bunning's 1 and 2 pitch past third for a double to score him. Fairecloth New Tribe Grid Coach

George Dalton (Dee) Fairecloth has been named a graduate assistant football coach at Northeast State, announces Dave White, athletic director and head football coach.

A former Northeast quarter-back, Fairecloth will work primarily with the Indian scout squad, White said.

Fairecloth lettered on the 1965 Northeast team.

Social Events Fill Calendar For Miss Crossland And Mr. Weems Prior To Their Wedding Today

The wedding this evening of Miss Nancy Crossland and Charles Weems at First Methodist Church will climax the series of pre-nuptial courtesies that have honored the soon-to-wed couple. The most recent festivity was the rehearsal supper at Bayou DeSiard Country Club yesterday at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Weems Sr. of Alexandria entertained following the wedding rehearsal for their son and his bride-of-the-day. The club's ballroom was the setting for the pre-nuptial event.

A large brass compote, revolving on a round table, held a massive arrangement of white gladioli, yellow daisies and greenery. Guest tables, encircling the focal arrangement, were covered in yellow and held English ivy and candelabra in the centers.

From her trousseau Miss Crossland was wearing a petal pink A-line model ornamented with a jeweled button. Her shoes were printed in varying shades of pink.

Mrs. Weems wore a white crepe dress with an organza overblouse, embroidered in pale blue, pink, yellow and yellow crepe shoes.

The parents of the honoree, Mr. and Mrs. Conway Crossland, members of the wedding party and relatives of the betrothed couple were guests.

BARBECUE

Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Woods Jr. entertained the couple, their families and close friends with an informal barbecue at Crescents in West Monroe, Thursday night.

The hostesses used summer flowers to decorate the party area. Supper was served outside, and then the hosts and guests gathered inside for dancing.

Miss Crossland chose from her trousseau a jersey shift in shades of emerald green, purple and pink. She accented her outfit with pink sandals.

BRUNCH

Earlier the same day, Mrs. Jack Mabray and Mrs. Clay Wilson invited Miss Crossland and other guests to an 11 o'clock brunch.

Noted in the entrance hall and drawing room were colorful bouquets of roses. The brunch table held two antique bisque baskets ornamented with cherubs overflowing with maidenhair fern, lilies of the valley, tuberose and Rose of Montana.

A hop sack shift of olive green and hot pink stripes with hot pink accessories was worn by the bride-elect.

Twenty guests attended the morning compliment to Miss Crossland.

BOATRIDE

A cruise up the scenic Ouachita River aboard "The Playhouse" was a pre-nuptial courtesy for the betrothed couple hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Craig Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. Neil Morgan.

For the informal outing on Wednesday evening Miss Crossland was wearing yellow knit slacks with an overblouse adorned with a yellow and orange sun.

LUNCHEON

Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. guests arrived at the Island Drive home of Mrs. King Stubbs for a bridal luncheon in courtesy to Miss Crossland. Mrs. Kent Breard was co-hostess.

Summer garden flowers were noted throughout the home. Decorations on the luncheon table were twin crystal compote filled with mass arrangements of white petunias, white pompons, candy tuft, caladium leaves and maidenhair fern. Porcelain cards marked the seating arrangement for the 14 guests who attended.

BAYOU TERRACE PARTY

The gardens overlooking the bayou at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Guerriero formed the setting for a buffet supper honoring Miss Crossland and Mr. Weems on Monday evening at seven o'clock.

Entertaining with the Guerrieros were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Seymour Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Woods, and Mr. and Mrs. George Weak.

Miss Crossland was wearing an A-line white crepe ornamented with jeweled buttons.

Bouquets of summer roses were placed at vantage places throughout the home. Guests were greeted in the entrance where green hydrangea interspersed with coral roses formed the focal decoration. Tropicana roses filling an alabaster urn was noted at a vantage place in the living room.

The workshop was sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education for administrators concerned with curriculum development in New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana junior colleges and technical institutes.

Bradley was chairman of a panel on the curriculum for building construction. Serving on the panel were two other educators and two industrial representatives.

During the program, the panel developed a suggested two-year program of studies for building construction students. Bradley said the panel also tried to help the school administrators understand the need for the building construction curriculum, which is not offered by many colleges in this region. The panel discussion was designed to show how to get a construction curriculum started and to establish uniform standards within the programs offered by the schools.

Representatives of about 20 junior colleges and technical institutes in the five states attended the workshop.

Pubgoers Seek Longer Hours

LONDON (AP) — British pubgoers will have more time to drink their warm beer if the nation's drinking laws are relaxed as recommended by the government-backed Consumer Council.

"Serious drunkenness is no longer the problem it was when the 1964 licensing law was passed," the council said Friday in proposing that pubs remain open in the afternoons and for longer hours than at present on Sundays.

It said a "substantial demand" was evident for more pub time on Sundays.

If you have a question you want answered, write or call "Mr. Editor, Tell Me, Please" at the Morning World and News-Star. We'll be glad to get the information and pass it on to you each Saturday in this column.

In the stories of the recent death of Alfred Krupp, German munitions king, the inference was made that his real name was not Krupp, but another. Can you explain this, or am I wrong. Other members of my family got the same impression. You were correct in assuming that Herr Krupp's name was another, but through a special act of the German government the name Krupp was added to the name, thus making it the legal name. Alfred Krupp's mother was the heir to the Krupp fortunes, and it was through this line that the Krupp name was handed down. His real name was Alfred Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach. In a special act of the German government, due to the support of the family for the government early in this century, the name "Krupp" was made the official name of the family. Thus, when the late "munitions king" was referred to, the Krupp name was used.

Please tell me where I can obtain information on judo and karate.

Contact Dr. Thomas H. Fields Jr. here in Monroe. I am interested in buying the new Freedom Shares from the United States Treasury. Why aren't they sold the same as saving bonds and is the interest subject to tax?

The main purposes, the Savings Bond Division of the United States Treasury Department says, of these Freedom Shares is to attract additional funds from current income into the savings market without disturbing the existing savings programs. Therefore, the treasury makes these shares available only to regular buyers of Series E savings bonds. Only persons enrolled in a regular plan for purchase of U. S. Savings bonds are eligible to buy freedom shares. The interest from these is subject to federal income tax, but not to state or local income taxes. The tax liability may be deferred until the shares mature, are redeemed or are otherwise disposed.

Do the United States Supreme Court members belong to the Masonic Lodge? If not will you please name the ones that are members?

Chief Justice Earl Warren and associate justices of the present Supreme Court are Masons. Justice Tom Clark who recently retired is a Mason. Thurgood Marshall, who was nominated when Clark retired is also a Mason.

Who owns all the Class "A" stock in the Federal Reserve System. How much of this stock is owned by foreign capitalists? Its only stock is that held by member banks. There are something over 6,000 of these banks and to qualify they must own FRB stock based on a percentage of their capital.

What college or university is Alger Hiss now working in, and what is his occupation?

As far as can be ascertained by our Washington, D. C. bureau, Alger Hiss is presently connected with no university or college. The last report the House Un-American Activities Committee had of him, he was working as a salesman for some wholesale stationary firm in New York City.

Why are such appalling speeds allowed by some motorists on N. 4th St. in this city? I moved here last spring and find this most disturbing, especially with regard to the speed near Georgia Tucker School, which I noticed has no fence or other protection for the children who play near the street. Why aren't there signs on N. 4th St. indicating "Children at Play-Slow" as there are on less traveled streets? Can't the police department control this area better?

According to Monroe Police Chief James C. Kelly Jr., enforcement is naturally the only way to solve the speeding problem. The "School Zone - 15 mph" signs have been removed for the summer in order to recondition them for the fall. As school is not in session, the signs are not needed at this time. This is a customary practice and the signs will probably be making a reappearance very soon. Fencing the school grounds is the responsibility of the Monroe School Board, not the police department. The speed limit along N. 4th Street is clearly posted and violators will be prosecuted.

Why in last week's column did you say that Jesse James was killed by a man named Howard, when most historians agree that James, using the alias of Howard was killed by Robert Ford, a former gang member?

Our face is red. You are correct. The Encyclopedia Britannica shows that not one but two members of the Jesse James gang, Robert and Charles Ford, turned traitors and shot their former leader, killing him instantly in his home at St. Joseph, Mo., on April 3, 1882. They acted on a reward of $10,000 offered by then Governor Crittenden of Missouri.

WINNSBORO (Special) — Allen Gilmore of Extension ginned the first 1967 bale of cotton in Franklin Parish at 3 p.m. Friday.

The bale, ginned at the Buie Gin in Fort Necessity, weighed 511 lbs. and is now on display at the Winnsboro Bank and Trust Company.

Each year the first bale of cotton ginned in the parish is displayed alternately in the Winnsboro Bank and the Franklin Bank and Trust Company.

In previous years, the first bale has been sold to the highest bidder at an auction sponsored by the Winnsboro Chamber of Commerce.

Gilmore said that the cotton was handpicked from nine acres which he planted April 10. The cotton is of the Stoneville 213 variety. Gilmore has 130 acres of cotton planted this year.

Terry's Fight For Life Ends

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Terry Ann Duskin's battle for life has ended at age 6.

The youngster died Friday at a cancer center, where she had been a patient about a month. Honoring a wish from the child, Mrs. Duskin took Terry Ann for her last train ride last March, when doctors estimated she would live only a few weeks because of a brain tumor.

Terry Ann lived to celebrate her sixth birthday July 6 at University of Minnesota hospitals. There was a merry go-round cake and other presents.

The first symptoms of her illness appeared a year and a half ago. By March, she was partially paralyzed and unable to speak. She suffered from pneumonia and a throat infection while in the hospital.

NEW FREEDOM SHARES

What are they? Who may buy them?

Americans have put their savings to work for freedom through U.S. Savings Bonds for many years. New Freedom Shares do the same job . . . plus. Read how.

Freedom Shares are U.S. Savings Notes. They pay a higher return than Savings Bonds, 4.74% when held to maturity. And they mature in just four-and-a-half years.

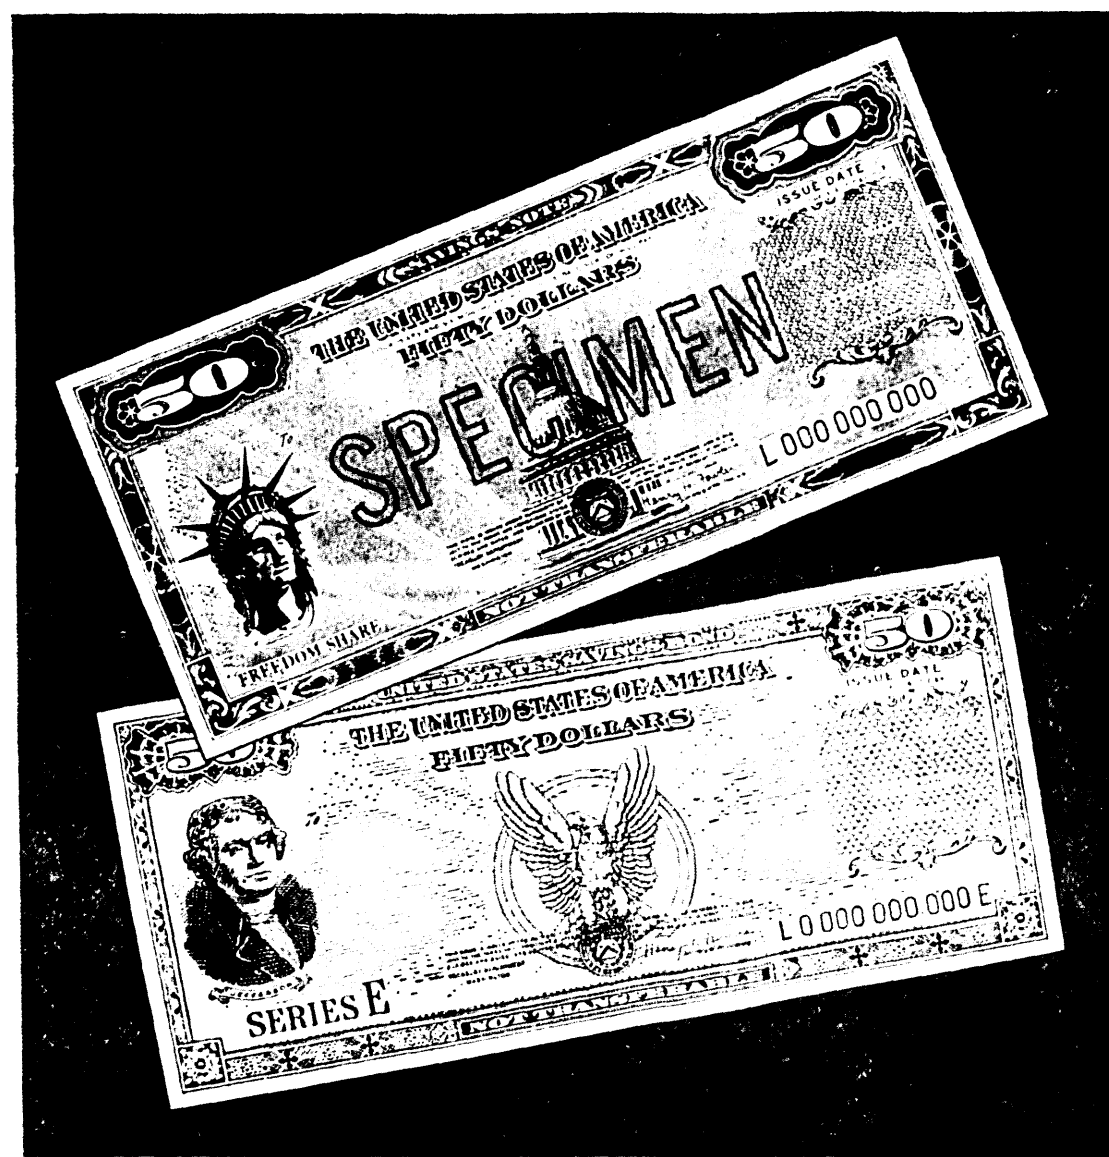

For regular Bond buyers only

These new Freedom Shares—which are not redeemable for the first year—are offered on a one-for-one basis with E Bonds, but only to people who belong to the Payroll Savings Plan where they work or the Bond-a-Month Plan where they bank.

There are four denominations of Freedom Shares, each of which may be paired with a Series E Bond of the same or larger denomination, as a "package." For instance, for $39 total, you purchase a Savings Bond that matures at $25 and a Freedom Share that matures at $25.

New symbol of the Share-to-Freedom Campaign

America needs your help

When you buy Savings Bonds and Freedom Shares you do an important job for freedom, backing our men in Vietnam and helping to keep the country economically strong. The need is urgent. What you do counts.

Sign up

Tell your supervisor or the Payroll Department where you work (or any officer where you bank) that you'd like to join a Bond purchase plan. Decide how much you'll save . . . whether you want Freedom Shares as well as Bonds . . . and just sign the authorization card.

You'll be helping your country as you help yourself. And the country needs your help.

Nigeria Orders All-Out War Against Secessionist Biafra; Rebels Stand Firm

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Maj. Gen. Yakubu Gowon, head of Nigeria's federal government, ordered all-out war Friday against secessionist Biafra. But the leader of the rebels, Col. Odumegwu Ojukwu, declared in a radio broadcast heard here that his forces were "in a position to launch a decisive offensive against the enemy to bring the war to an end." He pledged no surrender.

The federal government, until now, had called the fight against Biafra a "police action."

Gowon told his troops Friday to open full action against the rebels following their bombing raids on federal Nigeria and "acts of terrorism."

Gowon declared in an official government statement: "No mercy should be shown to the rebels and their collaborators."

Gowon's instructions could mean the use of Nigeria's newly acquired Czech fighter-bombers in attacks on Biafran towns and the use of heavy artillery.

Much of the fighting so far has been restricted to the use of mortars and light artillery in an effort not to damage useful buildings such as Nsukka University, which federal government troops captured virtually intact three weeks ago.

Nigerian federal troops were reported Friday to have landed at the oil port of Warri, which fell to Biafran forces and multitudes of federal troops Wednesday.

According to reports in Lagos, federal forces landed at the entrance to the River Escravos, which leads up to Warri. This was the first counter-move by the Lagos central government since the entire oil-rich Midwest fell to Biafran troops.

Ojukwu claimed the taking of the Midwest as a big victory but observers in Lagos pointed out there were few troops in the region, which had been treated as a special neutral belt by both sides so far in the four-week-old war.

The federal government previously felt sensitive—particularly northerners—to the Midwest which has more than 700,000 members of the Ibo tribe.

The Ibos are the dominant tribe in Biafra.

Nigeria's elite federal guard was lined up at the border with the Midwest to prevent any Biafran advance toward Lagos, 200 miles away.

Plans Told On Hospital In Richland

RAYVILLE (Special) — The Richland Parish Police Jury has called a $1.5 million bond issue and one-mill maintenance tax election for Sept. 16 to finance a proposed parish hospital here and to buy a portion of the Delhi Clinic.

The police jury has proposed that $850,000 go toward construction of the new hospital, and that the remaining $650,000 be used to purchase a part of the Delhi Clinic and add on to it.

The one-mill tax should be used for maintenance and would run for five years. The bond issue is for 25 years with an interest rate not to exceed six percent per annum.

Both the hospital and clinic will have a central administration and will be non-profit parish-owned institutions, according to George Sumlin, jury presi-

Hearing Set On School Consolidation

JONESBORO (Special) — A hearing is set for Friday on a suit to stay a ruling by the Jackson Parish School Board to consolidate the Eros and Catham schools.

The hearing will be in Second Judicial Court before Judge Frank D. LaRue.

A group of residents of Eros filed the suit on July 5th, naming the entire school board as defendants. The hearing was originally set for late July but was postponed to Friday.

The school board ruled in July that the Eros and Catham schools should be consolidated.

Negro Band Makes March To Covington

COVINGTON, La. (AP) — A band of Negro marchers from Bogalusa, their number swelled from 43 to 75, headed for Covington Friday for a Negro-voter registration drive.

The group are on a 106-mile trek to Baton Rouge where, on Aug. 20, they plan to hand a list of grievances to Gov. John McKeithen.

McKeithen, in New Orleans Friday, called the civil rights march "absolutely silly and ridiculous," and said he would not meet with them when they arrive.

The marchers, who had made about 25 miles since they set out Wednesday, paused for lunch Friday at the intersection of state highways 59 and 21. They cleared off a spot, picnic-style, and ate chicken and potatoes off paper plates. There were about five times as many children as adults.

Across the road from them, some 22 state and local officers, who were escorting them, ate sandwiches.

The marchers, who had come through some 90-degree weather, were refreshed by 70-degree temperatures Friday, after heavy showers.

They assembled in front of the Money Hill tung oil tree plantation to start their day's march to Covington. The plantation manager parked his car to block the entrance to the plantation. He watched the procession on the highway, without incident.

Parishes to be included in the new troop are West Carroll, East Carroll, Madison, Tennessee, Franklin and Richland. There will be approximately 25 employees in the new troop.

Capt. Clyde May will be troop commander.

The location of the headquarters in Delhi will bring about new license plate designation for this area, probably "Q" and a license bureau, according to Burbank.

Among those aiding in bringing about the new troop were Delhi Mayor Ray Snider, members of the Delhi Town Council, Richland Parish Sheriff Hill, Sen. Charles Brown, Rep. Benny Christian, Sen. Spencer Myrick of Oak Grove, Rep. Vail Deloney of Lake Providence, Rep. Allen Haley of Oak Grove, and Rep. S. S. DeWitt of New-ellton.

Richardson To Run For Assessor

COLUMBIA (Special) — Edge Richardson, currently representative from Caldwell Parish, has announced that he will seek re-election to the newly created district composed of Caldwell and Richland parishes, but will instead run for tax assessor of Caldwell.

In making the announcement, Richardson said that the combining of the two parishes into one district with only one representative would be "odds for re-election unfavorable" to him, pointing out that Richland has 7,122 votes while Caldwell has only 4,554.

"Another reason is that I am not financially able to run in two parishes, as I know it will cost me several thousand dollars which I do not have," Richardson said.

He added, "I am proud to inform the people that I am one of the 15 representatives who voted against this plan of letting the Federal Courts tell us what we had to do."

In making his announcement for tax assessor, Richardson said:

"I wish to inform the people that I will be a candidate for tax assessor for Caldwell Parish in the forthcoming election, Nov. 3th.

"It has been a pleasure and a privilege to have had the honor to serve you in the state legislature, but due to the Federal Courts forcing the legislature to re-apportion, which combined Caldwell and Richland parishes, it has changed the entire picture. It will be difficult for one person to represent two parishes and do a good job.

"I would like to inform the people that I am an independent candidate and if elected your tax assessor, I will serve fair and impartial and will work hard for our parish.

"I will conduct an active, but clean campaign if my opposition will let me to contact each voter personally before the November election. Your vote and support will be greatly appreciated."

A native of Caldwell Parish, Richardson has lived all his life in the parish, except for the time spent in service during World War II. He has been in the service station business in Grayson for the past 20 years, and he is a small cattle farmer.

Richardson is married to the former Sadie Luttrell. They are the parents of three children, Gary and Glen, who are students at North Louisiana State College in Monroe, and Brenda who is a senior at Caldwell Parish High School.

He has served twice as commander of the Caldwell Post 162 American Legion; twice Worshipful Master of Clarks Lodge 382, free and accepted Masons; is a member of the Parent Teachers Association and the State Farm Bureau.
